Individualised Fetal Growth; An Ultrasonic and Biochemical Study

July 26, 2011
By Käthe De Jong [1]

Until recently, growth retardation was primarily suspected to be present in a group of fetuses with a birth weight below the 10th percentile of locally derived birth weight for gestational age charts.

Source URL:

Links:
[1] http://www.obgyn.net/authors/k%C3%A4the-de-jong